

PATENT AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY TRANSLATIONS

Patent documents are one of the most demanding forms of translation. Accuracy is paramount when millions of dollars in intellectual assets, important research, and business decisions are at stake.

3rdevent has access to a large pool of highly skilled professional translators with advanced degrees in various fields that are capable of translating even the most demanding texts.

We offer three levels of service:

- Full service translation of the entire text.
- Partial translation of the document, i.e., claim sections, portions of the claims, summary of the invention, etc.
- General outline translation – This service can be provided when only the most vital information is required from the document. We capture the key points of the invention and summarize them in the format requested by the client.
